Waiting Area

Located in the Fitzgibbons Building on the first level of the Monroe Professional Center Condominium, Unit 111 is partially developed as a small professional office. It is located adjacent to the passenger elevator.

The Fitzgibbons Building is rich in local history. It is all that remains of the Fitzgibbons Brothers buggy works, a manufacturer of buggies in the late 1800s and early 1900s. One of Monroe's most infamous fires destroyed about 60% of the original building on August 28, 1948. The present building was saved and underwent a complete renovation in 1999 with the installation of a passenger elevator and new plumbing, electrical, HVAC, windows and floors.

Unit 111 exits directly to the Fitzgibbons Building atrium lobby.
